ClearView: Meeting Corporate Compliance Regulations with Fusepoint Secure Services

In response to the passing of new securities regulations and corporate compliance legislation like Ontario's Bill 198 and the Sarbanes-Oxley (SOX) Act in the United States, a growing number of companies are now required to provide an anonymous and confidential mechanism through which employees in publicly traded companies can submit reports concerning potential financial wrongdoing within their organizations.

ClearView Strategic Partners Inc. is a Canadian company focused on compliance, corporate governance and employee engagement solutions for organizations such as Sears Canada, Air Canada, and RONA Inc.

With compliance and legislative requirements driving the need for secure and private ethics reporting/whistleblower systems in the corporate environment, ClearView made a key decision to outsource all components of its mission-critical IT infrastructure and applications related to the company's ethics reporting/whistleblower solutions to Fusepoint Managed Services.

The ClearView Connects™ solution provides employees with telephone and web-based alternatives to report wrongdoing, submit their comments and concerns, and establish an ongoing, two-way communication channel for anonymous and continued follow-up. All information is logged and entered into a central data repository hosted and managed by Fusepoint, ensuring the security, availability and performance of all critical applications.

Objectives:

- Meet the need for secure and private ethics reporting/whistleblower systems in the corporate environment
- Ensure sensitive data will be kept secure and confidential
- Enable organizations to fulfill their regulatory compliance obligations

Strategic Approach:

- Outsource all components of ClearView's IT infrastructure and applications related to compliance, corporate governance and employee engagement

- Host and manage a central data repository where all sensitive information is logged and stored
- Ensure the security, availability and performance of all critical applications

Results:

- New enterprise clients for ClearView including RONA, Air Canada, and Sears
- Rock-solid security and guaranteed reliability for ClearView's critical online applications

What ClearView had to say:

"Our relationship with Fusepoint ensures that our ClearView Connects™ ethics reporting/whistleblower system will be available whenever and wherever employees or authorized reviewers need to access it. Fusepoint provides us with rock-solid security and guaranteed reliability for our critical online applications."
